

THE WORLD OF THE SMALL

2015 CALENDAR

LAURENCE INGLES-LE NOBEL
CITY OF LONDON FREEMEN'S SCHOOL

“In the summer of 2015, I shall be going to Chennai in Southern India and taking part in a community project near Villupuram, in the agricultural state of Tamil-Nadu. Along with other CLFS school students, we shall be assisting the ARMDS organisation, which helps to alleviate the suffering of people with disabilities and other minority groups. The project work will include teaching English, as well as renovating buildings in a school for underprivileged children.

All the students going on this trip are required to raise money themselves, so I have made a calendar using some of my Father's macro photography from his website, a hobby he does in his spare time. Most of the creatures in this calendar are found locally around Holmbury St. Mary where I live, a village in the Surrey Hills nestled amidst the Hurtwood with forest for ten miles in every direction. Last but not least, I would like to thank advancedprint of Coulsdon for their support with this fundraising project.”

The Sawfly

Found throughout much of the world, this insect's larvae are a gardener's bane, stripping leaves bare to leave just the bare veined skeletons
